

OMNILINK JUDICIAL SOLUTIONS

The problems facing federal, state and local prison and law enforcement agencies in the United States continue to grow. On average, prisons in the United States are operating at 140% of their intended capacity, while construction costs for new prisons often exceed $75,000 per cell. In addition to prison overcrowding and rising construction costs, operating costs often exceed $40 per day per prisoner, while recidivism rates have risen to more than 70%.

The need for cost effective, reliable alternatives to incarceration is clear. Government agencies worldwide are increasingly exploring alternatives such as substance abuse programs, halfway houses, and electronic monitoring to help address these rapidly growing problems.

Why Omnilink?

Omnilink, the fastest-growing electronic monitoring company, offers the most advanced, proven electronic monitoring solution available today. Omnilink Judicial Solutions enables enforcement agencies to track offenders and defendants with a greater level of reliability and accuracy at a fraction of the cost of incarceration.

The combination of Omnilink's single-piece device, unique software and 24/7 monitoring service overcomes the challenge of tracking an offender whether they are indoors or outdoors, providing law enforcement with an unparalleled level of visibility into an offender's activities. In addition to the most comprehensive monitoring solution on the market, the Omnilink device eliminates false alerts, while providing the longest battery life available.

What is it?

Who uses the solution?

Regardless of the unique requirements of the alternative sanction program, Omnilink offers the device and services needed to dramatically improve success rates.

Pre-Trial or Post-Conviction

- Configure multiple monitoring levels on a single device based on monitoring requirements and risk level
- Provide a cost-effective solution for community supervision
- Leverage exception-based architecture to set up new defendants in minutes and receive alerts when rules are broken
- Provide defendants with a reminder of constant monitoring to minimize criminal behavior

House Arrest

- 24/7 monitoring and location tracking to ensure compliance
- Receive immediate alerts through various devices when violations occur
- Monitoring programs funded by the offender instead of by taxpayers
- Set curfews based on sentencing guidelines

Domestic Violence

- Establish Mobile Exclusion Zones to provide authorities with an alert when an offender is in close proximity to a victim
- Provide alerts to victims when they are in danger of coming into contact with an offender
- Enable inter-agency sharing of alert data

Gang Control

- Leverage Mobile Exclusion Zones to alert authorities when gang members are in proximity to other offenders
- Provide authorities with immediate alerts when gang activity is taking place
- Enable inter-agency sharing of alert data

Sex Offender

- 24/7 monitoring of offenders by law enforcement from the minute they leave prison
- Utilize schedule and location profiles to indicate when offenders are required to be within specific zones (such as at home or at work) and which zones offenders must avoid (such as schools or parks)
- Provide tracking records for various offenders to enable law enforcement to examine behavior for suspicious patterns

*"The victim unit allows the victim to have freedom and a mobile zone that the defendant can't be around. When we were looking for the technology, Omnilink was the only company that came forward and was able to offer that technology." Joe Caleca, Director of Community Corrections, Isabella County, Michigan

*"Quite often we were losing track of where our offenders were for extensive periods of time when they were in a building or in an environment where you didn't get a good GPS signal, and that was not acceptable for us because most of our offenders are very high risk, and we needed to know 100%, 24 hours a day, where they were." Sergeant Dave Scheppegrell, 23-year veteran of the Charlotte Mecklenburg Police Department
